

2022 Admissions Guide: Doctoral Program
School of International Health
Graduate School of Medicine, the University of Tokyo
REVISED on May 26, 2021

Purpose of Education for Research

The purpose of research training in the Graduate School of Medicine is to promote advanced research that will contribute to breakthroughs in the understanding of the mechanisms of life, to improve health, to contribute to the struggle against disease, and to foster international leaders in all fields of medicine who are outstanding scholars and highly creative researchers.

Admission Policy

1. Consistent with the aims described above, for its PhD programs in the Graduate School of Medicine, the University of Tokyo seeks students who have the potential to become international leaders in all fields of medicine through outstanding scholarship and advanced and highly creative research. We seek those who will, as described above, contribute to the understanding of the mechanisms of life, to preventing, curing, and recovering from disease, and to promoting and supporting healthy human development.
2. Successful applicants will meet the following criteria.
 - Successful applicants will, having a strong foundation of basic knowledge in medicine, nursing, and health sciences, be able to do creative research aimed at solving problems in health sciences and nursing for the purposes of advancing our understanding of the mechanisms of life; preventing, curing, and recovering from disease; and promoting and supporting healthy human development.
 - Successful applicants will be able to clear a path into the future of medicine, nursing, and health sciences through clear, logical analysis and original thinking, unfettered by conventional concepts.
 - Successful applicants will be able and motivated to become active international leaders in their chosen field, on the basis of advanced knowledge and research skills acquired in graduate school.
 - Successful applicants will have basic knowledge in medicine and health sciences and related fields, and the ability to communicate in English as needed in lectures and seminars.

Each program in the Graduate School of Medicine seeks applicants who have the background needed for that purpose to be fulfilled.

The aim of the Doctoral program in the School of International Health / Global Health Sciences is to train international leaders who will pursue advanced research contributing to the understanding of the mechanisms of life, the prevention and cure of disease, and the promotion of health through outstanding scholarship and advanced creative research in all areas of medical science.
